SPACE

Supporting Parents of Autistic Children in the Early years

Fosse Way School,
Longfellow Road,
Radstock BA3 3AL

Free to parents and carers of children educated in B&NES

Fridays, June 17th, 24th and July 1st and 8th 9.30am to 12.30pm

Parents of children on the autistic spectrum face the usual challenges of parenting and quite a few more. Barnardo's, with the support of young people, parents and other agencies, have created their own programme to provide families with information about autism and its management, including the support available on an ongoing basis suitable for the child and young person's needs.

Programme Approach Cygnet acknowledges parents as the experts when it comes to their own children, however a child on the autistic spectrum will present with additional challenges and families may feel there are not many places to go for advice and support.

Cygnet can fill this gap by:

- Building on parents' knowledge of their child and their positive care experiences. □
- Using available knowledge on autism, how this presents for each unique child and understanding needs as differences.

- Presenting programmes in a relaxed and varied format with practical applications in the home.
- Developing a mutually supportive environment where parents can share advice and experiences.

SPACE is a four-week programme that provides a mixture of information to read, questions to reflect upon and discuss, links to sources of further information and handouts that summarise some of the key learning points.

The programme is for parents whose children are aged four to 18 years who have diagnosis of autism and are educated in B&NES.
